

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975

By Bayyinah S. Jeffries

Download now

Read Online ➔

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self Determination, 1950–1975 challenges traditional notions and interpretations of African American, particularly women who joined the Original Nation of Islam during the Civil Rights-Black Power era. This book is the first major investigation of the subject that engages a wide scope of women from “The Nation” and utilizes a wealth of primary documents and personal interviews to reveal the importance of women in this community. Jeffries reveals that women were respected in the movement and maintained a very clear and often sought after voice in the advancement of the Original Nation of Islam.

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women replaces the typical portrait of the subservient and irrelevant African American Muslim woman with a far more accurate picture of their integral leadership and substantial contributions to the rise of Islam and black consciousness in the self-determination movement in the United States and beyond during the Civil Rights-Black Power era.

📄 Download A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: Africa ...pdf

📖 Read Online A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: Afri ...pdf

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975

By Bayyinah S. Jeffries

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 challenges traditional notions and interpretations of African American, particularly women who joined the Original Nation of Islam during the Civil Rights-Black Power era. This book is the first major investigation of the subject that engages a wide scope of women from “The Nation” and utilizes a wealth of primary documents and personal interviews to reveal the importance of women in this community. Jeffries reveals that women were respected in the movement and maintained a very clear and often sought after voice in the advancement of the Original Nation of Islam.

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women replaces the typical portrait of the subservient and irrelevant African American Muslim woman with a far more accurate picture of their integral leadership and substantial contributions to the rise of Islam and black consciousness in the self-determination movement in the United States and beyond during the Civil Rights-Black Power era.

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries Bibliography

- Sales Rank: #3319920 in Books
- Published on: 2014-04-04
- Original language: English
- Number of items: 1
- Dimensions: 9.38" h x .80" w x 6.21" l,
- Binding: Hardcover
- 200 pages

 Download A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: Africa ...pdf

 Read Online A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: Afri ...pdf

Download and Read Free Online A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries

Editorial Review

Review

Jeffries's account provides fascinating insight into the experiences of African American Muslim women and their contributions to the Nation of Islam. In this much-needed treatment of a little-studied subject, the author reveals much about not only the women themselves, but also the broader communities of which they were a part. Using an array of published sources and oral histories, Jeffries explores women's motivations for joining the nation, how they crafted their identities, and the various ways in which they embraced the movement for self-determination. She pays particular attention to women's contributions in the realm of education as well as to the role that their writings played in challenging white models of beauty, diet, and public welfare. The book also highlights the transnational dimensions of these activities and includes a short case study on Bermuda. Summing Up: Highly recommended. Undergraduate collections and above. (CHOICE)

Jeffries creates the first, substantive, and far-reaching examination of women in the Nation of Islam. Studying the era of its most explosive growth and influence, the author explores the complexities of gender, class, and race in the Nation, as well as the varied roles and experiences of Muslim women, many of whom were drawn to the organization seeking a refuge from racism, as well as affirmation, and protection in ways assumed to be unavailable outside of Islam. (Jeffrey Ogbar, University of Connecticut)

Most studies about the women in the Nation of Islam have attempted to 'correct' the general absence of women in viewing the history of this group. Such works have been overwhelmed with defending the presence of women as essential to the working of the ONOI, especially in developing strong, proud children who would promote racial pride and economic stability. They have also attempted to show the strength of these women and how their efforts have been germane to the birth and growth of ONOI, especially its public educational wing. However, Bayyinah S. Jeffries has expanded the narrative. She has introduced us to the women of ONOI and why they joined the Nation. She has explored the creation of the educational system of the Nation by Sister Clara Muhammad and others, beginning with taking their children out of public schools and home schooling them... Though the women of ONOI have not been recognized and honored as their counterparts in the civil rights movement, they made key contributions in the liberation of black people during the mid-years of the twentieth century. This is the strength of Jeffries' book. Like Josephine Silone Yates said years ago, a race cannot rise above its women, and ONOI would not have such a legacy without its committed female warriors. (Jacqueline Anne Rouse, Georgia State University)

Bayyinah S. Jeffries has provided a fresh analysis of examining the Nation of Islam from an Afrocentric perspective. Her study offers a cultural and gender assessment of an Africana social movement in the United States. Lastly, Dr. Jeffries has made an impact and lasting contribution to the intellectual history of research and writing of Africana Islamic studies. (James L. Conyers, University of Houston)

Nation women defied convention and gave us a new standard for womanhood and Black dignity. They exemplified order and discipline and taught us how to march to a different drummer. They also embodied the divine word and helped to build a movement that inspired us for over eighty years. Bayyinah Jeffries dares to take us inside the world of these remarkable women, a world too few of us know, and the rare voices she allows to speak in this volume must be heard. (Zain Abdullah, Temple University)

About the Author

Bayyinah S. Jeffries is assistant professor of Africana studies at Eastern Washington University.

Users Review

From reader reviews:

Shanon Stephens:

The publication with title A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 includes a lot of information that you can discover it. You can get a lot of profit after read this book. This specific book exist new understanding the information that exist in this guide represented the condition of the world today. That is important to yo7u to be aware of how the improvement of the world. That book will bring you within new era of the the positive effect. You can read the e-book on your smart phone, so you can read this anywhere you want.

Lillie Granado:

This A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 is fresh way for you who has fascination to look for some information since it relief your hunger details. Getting deeper you in it getting knowledge more you know or you who still having small amount of digest in reading this A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 can be the light food to suit your needs because the information inside that book is easy to get by anyone. These books create itself in the form that is reachable by anyone, that's why I mean in the e-book form. People who think that in publication form make them feel sleepy even dizzy this e-book is the answer. So there is not any in reading a reserve especially this one. You can find actually looking for. It should be here for a person. So , don't miss it! Just read this e-book kind for your better life along with knowledge.

John Pierre:

As a college student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher inquired them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just little students that has reading's heart or real their passion. They just do what the professor want, like asked to the library. They go to right now there but nothing reading very seriously. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring and also can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is being complicated. Book is very important for you. As we know that on this time, many ways to get whatever we want. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 can make you really feel more interested to read.

Kellie Stephens:

Some people said that they feel weary when they reading a book. They are directly felt the idea when they get a half parts of the book. You can choose often the book A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 to make your own personal reading is interesting. Your skill of reading proficiency is developing when you including reading. Try to choose straightforward book to make you enjoy to learn it and mingle the impression about book and examining especially. It is to be initially opinion for you to like to available a book and learn it. Beside that the reserve A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 can to be your friend when you're experience alone and confuse with the information must you're doing of these time.

Download and Read Online A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries #FXZGYHU2ACR

Read A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries for online ebook

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries Free PDF d0wnl0ad, audio books, books to read, good books to read, cheap books, good books, online books, books online, book reviews epub, read books online, books to read online, online library, greatbooks to read, PDF best books to read, top books to read A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries books to read online.

Online A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries ebook PDF download

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries Doc

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries Mobipocket

A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women: African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self-Determination, 1950–1975 By Bayyinah S. Jeffries EPub